WHAT WE FOUND

Most NYC happy hours are a real deal. Some are barely there.

The best happy hour deals in New York right now are at Tartinery (half off every glass of wine and every beer, weekdays 4–7pm and all day on weekends), Bar Sprezzatura ($8 wine and $5 house beer, daily 4–7pm), and the half-price bars at 3 Sheets Saloon and Down the Hatch. The typical deal takes 30% off the bar's own regular prices. Beer is the least discounted drink in the city.

deals take 40% or more off the bar's own regular price. 13 take half off or better.

28%

of deals take less than 25% off. 37 take less than 20%.

16

happy hours list at least one item at the same price it costs all night.

53%

of deals come with a stated catch: bar seats only, select items, a minimum order.

How we score a happy hour

We compare the happy hour price with what the same bar charges the rest of the night. "$10 cocktails" is a steal where they're normally $18 and no deal where they're $11.

PART	POINTS	HOW IT'S SCORED
Discount	50	Average % off the bar's own regular price across every item priced both ways. Half off or better earns all 50.
Window	25	25+ hours a week earns 20, scaled down from there. Plus 5 for weekends or past 9pm.
What's included	25	10 for real cocktails, 5 each for food, wine and beer.
Catches	−20	Minus 5 per stated catch (bar seats only, select items, minimums).

Grades. 80–100 is Worth it. 65–79 is Solid. Under 65 we don't name the bar; those deals count in the citywide figures only.

What counts. A deal is scored only if we confirmed it on the bar's own website or menu, or directly with the bar, at least two items are priced both at happy hour and on the regular menu, and at least one is a drink. Smaller pours and plates don't count against a full-size price. Deals we couldn't price both ways were left out, not guessed.

When. Prices checked in October 2026. Deals change: check with the bar before you go.

Limits. Listed prices, before tax and tip. Only bars that publish regular prices can be scored, so bars without a priced menu online are under-counted.

About Happy Hour NYC. Happy Hour NYC is an independent guide to happy hours and drink deals across New York City. We check every deal against the bar's own menu, date the check, and tell you which ones are worth leaving work early for. The best deals land in the free newsletter every Wednesday: subscribe here.
